ST. PAUL'S SCHOOL

For 1977-78, we of St. Paul's School are honored to dedicate our yearbook to Mrs. Patricia Barney.

Since it is people who make schools, everyone in a school community is truly important. But in setting a direction and an example for others to share, a few always stand out. At St. Paul's for the last three years, Patricia Barney has been one of these. To her students she has represented challenge, fairness and a real concern for their best interests. To her fellow faculty she stands for all that is best in professional standards and interested and understanding support. That she remained to become a keystone in the "new" St. Paul's through the painful transitions of 1975 is further witness to her dedication to the goals we represent. All of us hate to see her leave us but join in wishing her a productive and happy life in her new home in Connecticut.

The Headmaster

As you see from the picture, paper work takes much of a Headmaster's time. But I don't mind being interrupted at all since students and teachers are far more interesting and fun to talk to than papers! 1977-78 has been a third year of growth in numbers for us at St. Paul's so that now we are 82. Next year we'll be a bit larger again but I hope we never lose track of the importance of each one of us as individual children and adults. God has given each of us a special set of talents and I am proud of how you all have grown in their use this year!

BRYAN ADAMS

The event I remember most from this year...
Problems with the "Tattletale".
My favorite subject...recess.
My least favorite subject...Social Studies.

"Purple"

Purple is the warmth of a glowing fire.
Purple keeps you warm when it is cold.
Happiness is purple sitting by your side.
Joy is purple when there's nothing to do.
Purple is cozy and warm.

PETER BEERNINK

ANNE BLAIR

Blue is a bold and brave man
Red is a child who is scared and lost
Orange is Yellow's older sister,
Bossy and persistent.
Green is a young boy,
Daring and asking for adventure.
Black is the strongest and most feared,
Brown is his follower.

"The Mountains"

A giant, towering above all else,
reaching to grab its victims' beauty,
to carry them away into the vast wilderness.

CORWIN BOOTH

REED DANZIGER

"Mother Nature"

Upon the lake all is calm. The birds call, the sun glistens a yellow-orange through the trees. The animals come out to tea,
Behind a meadow with dew like silver in a green pot.

"Plant Child"

A seed is the baby the plant is the child.
The plant grows older with Mother Sun's love.
The plant grows taller reaching for its toys in the sky. It grows up in sparkling lightness, then darkness ends the life.

TRACY FERNANDEZ

PATRICIA GREEN

The event I remember most from this year...
The Middle Eastern lunch the mothers cooked.
I had the most fun this year when...
We went to the Miwok village.

The event I remember most from this year...
The Christmas play and seeing the organ pipe room.
The most embarrassing thing that happened...
I proposed to Heidi-she refused my ring.

JOHN HANSCOM

JON HIRST

The event I remember most from this year...
When John Hanscom was sprayed by a skunk.
My favorite subject...P.E.
My least favorite subject...Social Studies.

The most embarrassing thing that happened...
When John Hanscom stripped his pants in class.
In the future I predict I will be...
An airplane pilot.

CHARLIE JOHNSTON

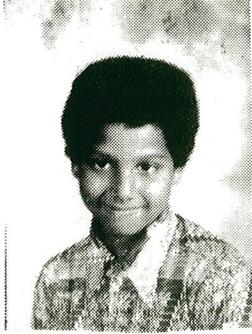

MARY KILMER

There was an old man from Luray,
Who had something he wanted to say.
But each time he tried,
With his mouth open wide,
His tongue would get in the way.

The event I remember most from this year...
The Christmas play.
The most embarrassing thing that happened...
When John proposed to me.

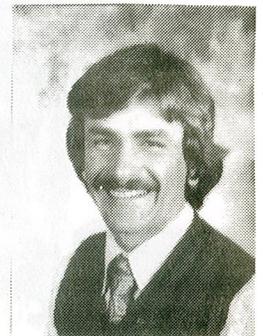

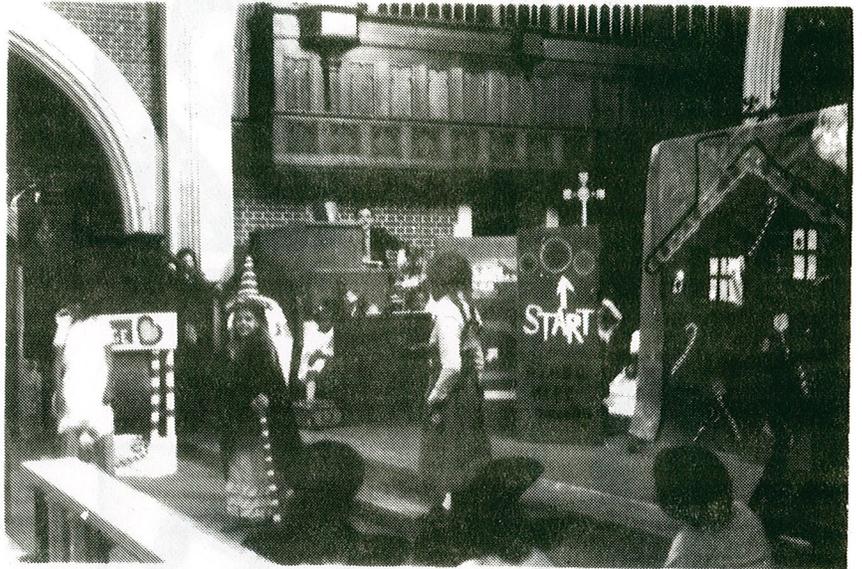

HEIDI MARSHMAN

KEVIN MORTON

The event I remember most from this year...
When John Hanscom was sprayed by a skunk.
The most embarrassing thing that happened...
When John Hanscom said, "Kiss me, Heidi".
