Yearbook

The Headmaster

DAVID FORBES

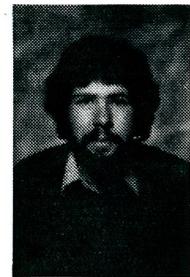

As our seventh school year draws to a close we can look back to another year of hard work and play together. Any one of us could tell why this has been a special year for him or her. For me, it has been a time when our classes seem to have enjoyed one another more than ever. Having "buddy" or companion classes has been part of that. Our Field Day and Picnic was, too. The vision of St. Paul's as a school of fine academic work by teachers and children from many backgrounds has once again come true.

As a family we shall look forward to another "special" year starting next September. But it will be without some of our number. Some of our present sixth graders will miss the excitement of being a part of our new Seventh Grade in the remodelled facilities. We shall miss them and wish them the best of luck in their new schools.

We also shall miss some of our teachers: Lori Arnold, senior member of our teaching staff will be at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic School next year; Ginny Bruzzone will be with us some but mainly is retiring for awhile from teaching; Sue Collentine is taking a leave of absence in order to have a new child; Karen Wald is leaving to work on a revision of her book on children's education in Cuba. Every one of them has made a wonderful contribution to St. Paul's and I know we all wish them the best of everything as they move on.
